* • Connect and control a remote desktop and a messaging client using an internet connection • See the remote desktop from your home and from everywhere * • Connect to remote workstation in a different domain * • Send files to remote workstation * • Fully customized to be used with any working desktop • • Hide the interface and its icons • Hide the computer from the desktop • Run the program on the local desktop without the taskbar • Hide the desktop and show the program's icons * • Install the program on more than one computer * • Send different file types to the desktop • • Install on a Windows XP, Vista or Windows 7 • Uninstall with Add/Remove

Programs or using the Help menu • • Have a modern interface and text messages * • Run from a shortcut on the desktop Note: In order to perform remote control with imPcRemote you need to configure the Internet connection in order to optimize the response time and the video quality. After configuring the connection you can see the remote desktop by using the program. With imPcRemote you can control the remote desktop by sending files to the other user, like pictures, folders or documents. To do so you can configure the connection for instant messaging. When you receive the first message it shows a text box with the body of the message. You can read the message and send the answer by clicking the button. The program allows you to configure the connection in order to optimize the responsiveness and the video quality. If you are trying to control a remote computer in a different domain you need to configure the protocol with your administrator before connecting to the computer. You can also hide the desktop and the icons on the desktop in order to have an elegant appearance when you are working with the remote desktop. You can configure the shortcut on the desktop that you want to use to start the application. Download imPcRemote Instant Crack For Windows from the link below and test it before purchasing it.
