Hugely successful projects like the Rebuilt Light Pacific have made their mark on the construction of the S&D, which can be seen all across South West England and the Isle of Wight. However, it is in Bristol that you can see the full splendor of these locomotives, especially with their BR Blue livery, and it is in Bristol that you will find yourself if you want to drive one of these magnificent beasts. Introducing Half-Life Decay: Solo Mission, where you are given the chance to add your own touch by taking control of one of 10 unique locomotives. You are given a vast number of tasks to accomplish, often too vast to accomplish in one day, and the locations and locations to visit are not lined in a row. The tasks will take many forms, and some, such as visiting a railway museum, an engineering center, or even a pub for refreshments, are completely optional, but for those that are not, completing each task will help unlock new features and content, such as improved power, better performance, or even faster operating speeds. Do note that while the first scenario in this add-on will find you on the infamous Great Western Railway in Bristol, this is not the case for all of the 10 vehicles in the Steam Workshop. About This ContentThe Evolution of Steam This collection is based on the Steam Engine collection by developer Partner Programme. Evolution of Steam is a great addition to Steam Workshops, being a valuable addition to Steam Locomotives Collection and allowing the life cycle of this classic machine to be followed. Steam Locomotives Collection uses hundreds of in-game locomotives and coaches from across the life cycle of steam, including many iconic locomotives from across Steam Workshops heritage. It's loaded with the best in-game locomotives, structures, scenery, and objects, with everything needed to recreate the sounds, smells, and emotions that are associated with the history of steam. The applets found within the app are easy to use and provide full control of each aspect of the life cycle of steam. Getting started is very simple with an interactive introduction. The applet organizes and displays every aspect of the life cycle of steam, such as What is steam? and Steam engine history, from drawing a board to starting a steam engine and developing into other locomotives and coaches. Selecting a locomotive within Steam Workshops locomotives collection opens a window with all aspects of its life cycle, including a

In an attempt to dispel the myths that are perpetuated on college campus climates, a number of colleges and universities have taken steps to destroy all lion statues on campus; the decision to take these steps came following the news that a student involved in the incident that we reported on last September, was sentenced to one year in prison for making the threat. After the news of the sentence was announced on Twitter, Santa Clara University President John J. Burns, "publicly announced that they would be eliminating all lion-themed statues, statues, and artwork on their campus," according to an article on CNN. And, to date no other higher education institution in the US has adopted such a drastic step, quite possibly a result of the recent sensational incident. According to the same article, there was no explanation given for the decision, except for the statement made by Burns, which stated that "It's time to bring dignity back to our campus." There you have it: no other college has demonstrated such sensitivity and moral fortitude as SCU, but apparently their efforts have yet to resonate on a national level, so for now student's who believe that campus lions are relevant to higher learning should join others who have made protests and demonstrations to save them. [Caitlin] Dennis [pictured above, holding a statue of a lion she took away from UC Berkeley, with a "crime scene tape" around it] was responsible for spreading a petition on a campus justice forum last October in the wake of a stabbing death by university police of a student, that called for the statue of a

Close Your Eyes -Anniversary Remake- is a hidden object game that uses a complete use of audio, voiceovers, motion capture and performance capture. It has a script and a real story to explore. Your goal is to find all 50 images that explain the mystery of the world. The game is entirely narrative driven: you experience the world, learn about the characters, solve the mystery, save the world and restore harmony. You'll meet and interact with characters such as the main character, his sister, a detective, a reporter, a maid, a guardian angel and other odd characters you'll meet. There are game modes like hunt mode, find the missing part mode, escape mode, give the medicine mode, give the love mode, just go around the world mode, find the ex, solve the mystery by playing mini games, secret collectibles, challenge secret enemies and other gameplay modes you might discover. You will be amazed by the story and graphics, you will discover new things and new secrets in every mode and every gallery. Some modes have a unique experience because of different goals, mechanics, gameplay and level design. The game uses a huge musical score composed of 44 tracks of music and has multiple endings. STORY OF THE GAME You will meet and get to know a mystery man who just lost his memory after an accident. It's up to you to restore his memories and save the world and his sister. To do that you will go around the world to find the picture that completes the story. The pictures are just as important as the story, they need to be found at a precise order because each picture has an impact over the story and the characters. You will have to be creative and smart to do that, as the environment you're in will change, the story will change, the encounters will change, the characters will change and so you will have to test all your skills to reach each picture. The game will have 2, 3 or 4 different endings depending on the thing you do. WHO AM I? Your hero is a mystery man who just lost his memory after an accident. He's got a sister, his dog and the annoying bear that he rescued. You will have to choose the right words for him to remember his past and later restore the world. Note: your dog can't really talk, so don't worry he will guide you to each picture, he will move his head, move the camera around and show you the path to reach the picture. c9d1549cdd

2017 The first EVER Yes! Magazine Tech Expo went live from the Committee Room in the Mayfair Hotel on Sunday, February 4th. With some awesome announcements, a hard-working panel of Industry Experts and some glittering prizes to be won, we totally packed in more than 200 attendees ready to go. Can't believe we pulled off such a successful day. Massive kudos to RuneTec, the fans, the Supporters, the Organisers and especially... Last night saw we finally go live with the exciting RuneTec 2017! Yes! Magazine conference on The Mayfair Hotel the evening of Sunday, February 4th. We got some cracking media coverage too. So far, RuneTec is generating a lot of positive buzz, making waves in the industry and creating some FAN-tastic content for us (so far!) from all of the awesome people we had on the panel. RuneTec director Joel... Hey RuneTec fans!! Sometimes it feels as if there's a Never-ending Fizz on your mobile and tablet. Did you know that Yes! mag (like the rest of us) is running a 10% in-app purchase and that we're able to tell you how much more you'll spend if you buy NOW? We also plan to offer Regular Financial Reviews but that is something for further down the line. Our Financial Review was appearing from last week on mobiles and tablets on Wednesday 12th February. Like us on Facebook if you want to keep up to date with our Financial... With the fair coming down the pipe at RuneTec it's always a good time to show some love for how music inspires artists, the people who play it and the performers and bands that really make it a reality. We love what we do and whilst yes we do some PR and Marketing, we think more our big boys over in Europe are really doing it for us. At RuneTec, we're interested in Diversity and the effect that it has on the Industry as a whole. To find out more about that, and the solutions, we've asked some helpful Industry experts to take part in a panel discussion. That's right folks, RuneTec and the Tech Expo is the first event of its kind in the UK. It's not just a Tech Expo it's a Tech WIN Expo. If you recall, last year's answer to Techfest was Shit The Microphone, Piss On Techfest, which

Pennsylvania orders suspension of kosher food - Jewish groups seek action Less than a day after a U.S. hospital admitted a man infected with a strain of Listeria monocytogenes associated with a Kosher deli in Philadelphia, it was revealed that additional food samples from that restaurant were positive for the microbe. These, and other foodborne outbreaks, are reasons that state food safety officials in Pennsylvania are on alert, ordering a suspension of all kosher and pareve food from the Rockwell Kosher Deli at 3400 South St. over the weekend. The ban is in effect until June 3, 2013, and was due to go into effect less than 24 hours after a Jewish, West Chester hospital admitted a man to its intensive care unit on March 13 suffering from an infection with Listeria that was traced to a kosher meal served to the man by the deli. The quick-action suspension order, first issued late last week, was then extended by a day, and reported exclusively by The Philadelphia Inquirer. There was no official explanation for the extension. The hospital later told the newspaper and the Center for Disease Control there was one more man at another regional hospital suffering from a Listeria infection, this one contracted from a kosher deli. "They are not aware of any other cases, but they're trying to determine if this is another case," Krawitz said. "This unusual strain of Listeria was found to be highly resistant to most antibiotics it is tested against. It is difficult to treat," he said. The kosher deli's shuttering was preceded by complaints that the canteen was not following kosher regulations, or certifying Kashi products. Observers expected that Rockwell Kosher Deli, known for its home-style baked goods and other staples, would be closed down at some point. "We're thankful the state health department acted quickly, and that the health services is working to identify additional possible cases of listeria. We all have a role in ensuring that our foodservice industry is taking part in standards-based improvement and efforts to
