In recent years, research on materials, which are biocompatible and biofunctionalized, has been the focus of extensive attention. In our research, we successfully synthesized organic-inorganic hybrid material and found that the bond strength between nail and nail polish is slightly increased by the organic-inorganic hybrid material, the permeability to water and oxygen of the nail is decreased, the viscosity of the nail polish in the hybrid material is lower than that in pure inorganic material, and the mechanical properties of nail polish are also better. The result showed that the material is suitable for use as a nail polish adhesives. Based on the property of the material, we proposes and a quick-drying process using the organic-inorganic hybrid material is suitable for use as a polish and hesives. The adhesive is applied to the nail to remove nail polish. The method is simple and has high efficiency. To reach the desired goal of a one-hour marathon training run, assess the following with each run: Distance run Density run Target Heart Rate Target Heart Rate to reach a 60 minute Per Mile Etc... In the real world, you will be able to only assess one of these items. Target Heart Rate to reach a 60 minute mile pace. Etc...are the other properties of your run that you will need to assess to hit your goal. The best two properties of your run (Time at Target Heart Rate and Minutes Per Mile) are a % of your total success. Assessing e79caf774b
