New parents play with baby. Adventurers play with dragons. Cowboys play with rodeo. Sports fans play football. Grown-ups love gaming. There's something for everyone on Roblox. We understand you're most likely just getting started, so we've made it as easy as possible to get started by creating your own games, your own way. Roblox is a mobile-first platform that gives you total freedom, and is best played on your phone. Start by creating your own game from scratch using the Lua programming language, or find someone else's game and enjoy playing it today. Gameplay: The game is divided into areas which are connected by buildings. There are different types of buildings on the screen such as residential houses, indoor locations like a bank or arcade, and outdoor areas like parks. Each area has different types of vehicles. There are only 4 types of vehicles including the most common type that is a walking vehicle and 2 types of vehicles that use wheels for movement, the first is the ground scooter and the second is a skateboard that uses a spring for movement. You can walk on the ground or move on a vehicle, in fact the camera can move as well. You can get food and drinks and carry different materials. You can cook with food and drinks you bring, and your character gets better at cooking. To do this the character gets experience points which can be used to increase their cooking abilities. When you build a house or a building the experience points are used to increase your character's strength which is represented by the number 1 and then you build the building out as many times as you want to. When you build the character's strength increases the player's health increases and the store of materials increases so that the player and the store of materials on the screen get better each time your character builds a store. You can also buy or sell materials to another player. If a player wants to play a game with the player they have to choose a vehicle, attach it to the character and start the game. If a player wants to play a game with another player they can team up with them or with other players and then choose the vehicle. After the game starts you use a separate controller to move your character on the vehicle on the screen which looks like a roller coaster. When you press the first button it will go left and when you press the second button it goes right and when you
