Writer/director Stan Hartley actually wrote the screenplay himself and acted in one of the principal roles. Purpose of this study is to investigate the usefulness of an experimental drug, AN-238, in the treatment of acute decompensated heart failure (ADHF) due to left ventricular systolic dysfunction (LVSD). Although the treatment of ADHF is challenging, many patients receive a variety of oral and intravenous medications to relieve symptoms and facilitate short- and long-term clinical outcomes. It has been hypothesized that AN-238 could be a useful drug for the treatment of ADHF due to its property to suppress the AT2R and the ACE2. The purpose of this study is to elucidate the effect of AN-238 on ADHF due to LVSD in the experimental condition. A total of thirty-one male rats, 12 weeks of age, will be randomly divided into three groups: high-dose

Histologic correlates]. We performed CSF cytology in 32 patients with tumors and neurological disorders that revealed no other diagnosis. We compared the cytologic findings with the histological diagnosis. The final diagnoses were: gliomas (20 cases), Lymphoma (9), Metastases (3), Giant cell astrocytoma (1), Acoustic neuroma (1). In all cases, we performed the examination at diagnosis. We selected a sample of CSF by lumbar puncture and stained it with May-Grünwald Giemsa (MGG), Papanicolaou and Weigert-Resorcin-Döhle. We found that cytologic diagnosis correlates with histology in 86% of the cases, with a specificity of 93.5% and a sensitivity of 75%. We found that the differential diagnosis of cytology is more difficult than in cases with blood contamination. The cytology diagnosis is unreliable when samples show degenerative findings of the parenchyma, the amount of blood is important, and cell concentrations are low. In this kind of cases, the interpretation of cytology should be carried out with caution.// Copyright (c) Microsoft Corporation. // Licensed under the MIT License. using
