In fact, the password you enter in the website is already encrypted. It is hashed and distributed across all the databases that require a password to be stored. When you send a password, it is first decrypted, then hashed and second sent to the provider. All the username and passwords in this website are encrypted. The same key can not decrypt any two accounts, so no one else can break into your account except you. The key is generated on a system that is fully isolated. Password strength is calculated by comparing the hashed/encrypted password and the entered password. More precisely, it's a function of how many bits of information the user has entered in the password and the number of bits the hashed password can have. Le programme Trojan Password Hunter permet la localisation de mots de passe et leur cryptage numérique. Après avoir ouvert une fenêtre et lancer le programme, il permet de créer ou de récupérer un nouveau mot de passe. Il utilise les infos fournies par les cookies des applications pour les localiser. Cet outil permet aussi de crypter avec facilité ses mots de passe par attaque bruteforce. Si on utilise cet outil pour faire enlever un mot de passe, il suffit de choisir l'attaque, le mot de passe par que le programme crypte et le mot de passe enleve. Le programme crypte le mot de passe (mots de passe cryptés sont minuscules comme les chiffres) avec un programme crypté avec des capacités de cryptage très basses avec une interférence. Unique feature: Passive filtering/sanity check - An average user often enters their password slowly and thinks they are done with it. However, each character they have typed in is being compared against a built-in dictionary of words and is checked to see if it does exist. If the password is correct, then it goes straight through, otherwise it is deemed to be incorrect.
