Additional Notes: ChangeLog file: See also Password Manager Passwords Cryptography References External links Category:Windows-only software Category:Cryptographic software Category:Password managementQ: Change line color on CodeRush I have installed the CodeRush product from their website and it's working fine. I'm able to get it to run and is highlighting the lines and variables that are being used. But there is no ability to set a custom color to those lines. Also, there is no "Show" icon in the right-hand corner of the IDE as I would expect (see the picture). Do I need a different version of CodeRush or is the one that comes with VS2008 not allowing for this functionality? A: You are looking at the legacy (beta) version of the code wizard. I think the picture you saw was for the final version. The colors can be changed under Options->Color A: While Chris's answer is correct, I can also provide a screenshot of the Edit->Wizards->Code Wizard color palette, if you're curious. A: All of the CodeRush extensions are available as X-code plugins in the SDK (Visual Studio 2008 SDK). Q: When I remove "lazyload" class from images, images still load slowly My HTML, CSS and JAVASCRIPT code below, which removes the "lazyload" class of images on scroll. I am now trying to write a code which loads the images as soon as they are clicked by the user, but still have the same result. What do I do here? My javascript: var scrollableHeight = $("#scrollable").outerHeight(); $(window).scroll(function() { if ($(this).scrollTop() > (scrollableHeight * 0.5)) { $("#scrollable").addClass("lazyload"); } else { $("#scrollable").removeClass("lazyload"); } }); .lazyload { display: none; background-color: red; }
